PLATFORMS AND MARKETPLACES

Where brands already buy UGC.

Check each site's creator signup page before you apply. Terms, fees and acceptance change often.

TYPICAL BRAND BUDGET PER VIDEO*

*Ranges are what brands often budget, taken from a 2026 platform comparison by Hirevire. Beginners usually earn at the low end of a range.

Start with two platforms, not ten. One where brands post briefs (Trend or Upwork) and one where you create a profile (Fiverr or Collabstr).

FIND BRANDS

Brands that already pay for video.

A brand that runs video ads has a budget and a reason to need more videos.

1. Meta Ad Library
   20 minutes a day
2. TikTok Creative Center
   Top Ads page
3. Your own shelf
   10 products you use
4. Local and SEA brands
   Bilingual edge

Method 1: Meta Ad Library

20 MIN A DAY

1. Open facebook.com/ads/library and choose "All ads".
2. Search a keyword from your niche: serum, sleep app, language learning, hotel.
3. Open ads that have been running for 3+ weeks. Long running ads usually perform.
4. Write down the brand, the Instagram handle and the style of video they use.
5. Pitch an alternative of their top ad: a new hook, a different person, a different language.

Method 2: TikTok Creative Center

Open the Top Ads page and filter by country and industry. Look for small and mid size brands with only a few ads. They need creators most.

Method 3: Your own shelf

List 10 products or apps you already use. Pitch them first: you can talk about them honestly.

Method 4: Local and Southeast Asia brands

Search Indonesian brands that advertise to English speaking travelers, and English language apps entering Indonesia. Bilingual videos are rare. Mention that you can make both versions.

Signs a brand is worth a pitch

- ✓ It posts or advertises video regularly.
- ✓ It has fewer than 50 videos on its profile, so there is room for more.
- ✓ It replies to comments, which means a person is watching the account.
- ✓ It sells something you can use or explain.

Signs to skip

- ✗ Asks for free videos in exchange for "exposure".
- ✗ Wants you to pay for a product and expects a refund later.
- ✗ Will not discuss payment before you film.
